Stressed out about school? We're here to help.

Here are some small things you can do straight away to help you better tackle the challenges of student life.

- Stuck on a problem? Come back to it later. Or break the problem down into smaller chunks. It’s easier to tackle one small piece at a time.

- Ask for help. Got a friend who’s really good in a particular subject? Take advantage of their expertise.

- Get as much rest as possible. Don’t drink too much alcohol or caffeine before bed. If a particular problem is preventing you from getting to sleep, write it down and deal with it in the morning.

- Take a short break (see ideas below). Then come back refreshed or with a different perspective.

- Be kind and patient to yourself. Reward yourself for your successes and for all your hard work. Don’t let the small hurdles prevent you from reaching your long-term goals. Figure out a plan for the next time.

- Grab a healthy snack (fruits, veggies, handful of nuts) and drink lots of water!

- Get up and give your body a stretch, or go for a brisk walk to get some fresh air and clear your mind.

- Do something fun or that you enjoy. Dance and sing along to your favourite song. Listen to a favourite podcast. Take a relaxing bath or shower. Call your best friend for a chat or to blow off some steam.

- Breathe. Close your eyes and take slow, deep breaths. Drop your shoulders and relax your arms and legs.
